

Children's Transitions in Everyday Life and Institutions

Edited by Mariane Hedegaard & Marilyn Flear

This book conceptualises children's transitions across a range of educational settings to bring to the foreground societal, institutional and personal perspectives which have received little attention in the research conducted in this field so far.

Written by a team of international contributors and featuring case studies from a range of educational settings in Australia, Denmark, Spain, Sweden and the USA, this edited book is the first in the field of early childhood and youth studies to draw on Vygotsky's cultural-historical theory to give insights into transitions in childhood, what they are and how they are differently experienced.

Transitions are explored holistically so the chapters not only focus on the person transitioning but also the institutions in which the person is transitioning from and to, with a focus on schools and daycare. The contributors look at how societal values and policies impact these transitions and comparison are drawn between international settings. The book includes chapters on expatriate families, immigrant children, home-school transitions, the role of play and communities. Through interviews, case studies and the analysis of empirical material from fieldwork, Children's Transitions in Everyday Life and Institutions reflects on the best ways to engage children so that they may emerge as competent actors in their new settings and transition well.

Mariane Hedegaard is Professor Emeritus in Developmental Psychology at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Marilyn Flear is Professor and Foundation Chair of Early Childhood Education and Development at Monash University, Australia.
